Millions of Feet of Lumber and Other Property Destroyed.

Ottawa, Ont., August 26.-A big conflagration visited Ottawa this afternoon, starting in piles of lumber belonging to John R. Booth, in the suburb of Rochesterville. The fire spread rapidly owing to the difficulty of getting water and soon got beyond the control of the fire brigade, extending towards the city until 6 o'clock, when the wind changed and it then proceeded north and south. The territory covered by the fire was about ten acres. On this were between six and eight million feet of lumber belonging to Booth, which was valued at about $150,000, also six railway cars with lumber, belonging to the Export Lumber Company and the Parry Foundry Bridge Company. The Cedar street public school was also burned. It was valued at $8,000. It is believed the fire was the work of incendiaries. After 10 o'clock, before the fire brigade had it under control, it was burning brightly. Should a heavy wind arise the result would be terrific, as the territory surrounding the fire is covered with lumber piles and wooden houses.

for Breckinridge. Lexington, Ky., August 26.—The famous evangelist, George E. Barnes, delivered a sermon in the courthouse here tonight which electrified his large audience, as it was a powerful appeal to all Christians to vote for Colonel Breckinridge for congress. He cited Bible authority to p that he was right, and said that he p the preachers that had so little of the spirit of Christianity in them as to denounce the colonel. These remarks created a won-derful effect on his hearers. About twenty of them got up and went out, and one man asked Barnes in a loud voice: "How much did you get for this?" Ex-State Treasurer S. G. Sharp, who is a strong Breckinridge man, went to the interrupter and told him to hush. He soon left. For a while the scene was an exciting one, some cheering the preacher, others condemning him and all wrought up to the highest pitch. Such a scene has seldom been witnessed here at a religious seldom been witnessed here at a religious meeting, but quiet was finally restored and Barnes concluded his address by begging his hearers to be forgiving.

Mr. Morton, on being approached with regard to his intentions in the gubernatorial race, gave out the following and politely refused to say anything further:

"In reply to your questions I can only say that although I have no desire to re-enter public life, I have received so many letters from personal and political friends in different parts of the state of New York, urging me to allow the use of my name as a candidate, that now that I am at home, I shall feel it due to them and to the re-publican party which has so highly honored me in the past, to give the question serious consideration."

Drilling for the Prizes Will Begin Next Wednesday - The Camp Thronged with Visitors.

Washington, August 26.-An unwelcome house-warming was given the Knights of Pythias encampment in the white city of tents, around the Washington monument this afternoon. It came in the form of a fierce thunder shower which swept over the city almost without warning and then settled into a steady rain until surset. Several tents were dismantled by the wind and sheets of rain, and the lightning was unpleasantly sharp.

All of the discomforts incidental to a storm were accepted in hilarious mcod by the knights, however, and they made fun under the canvases as well as outside, after the first drenching of rain had passed over. There were reunions and cheers for the arriving companies, while the bands in camp kept going a continual concert, endeavoring to outplay their riva's.

Specia' trains were pulling into the depots and brilliantly uniformed commands in scarlet, blue and white were marching up Pennsylvania avenue through the rain, many displaying handsome tanners or grotesque emblems. Particularly striking was the Florida phalanx, presenting a gleaming array of white duck trousers, and carrying at the head of the line the most famous product of their state-a stuffed aligator, rampant.

Visitors in Camp. In the face of the weather, hundreds of residents flocked to inspect the camp during the day, trooping through the avenues of tents and crowding about the goats and other paraphernalia, animate and inanimate, brought by the westerners, who are in a large majority today.

Fine discipline was maintained in the encampment, something like martial regulation being enforced. Three thousand men slept on the light cots under 'he canvas tonight while uniforms are the ruie, rather than the exception on the streets.

The most heavily gilt-laced of the regalia was to be found at the Ebbitt house, where hecdquarters have been established by Major General Carnahan, where the citizens' committee also congregate and where every stranger is greeted by his acquaintances with an official title.

Since the encampment is not officially begun until tomorrow, the divisions are not required to report their presence until then, so no list of the organizations on the grounds is yet to be had.

Among the prominent divisions which arrived today were those from New York, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Joseph, Chi-

The Emperor to Lead His Corps in a Grand Sham Battle-Capture of Anarchists. Other News from Germany.

Berlin, August 26.—The maneuvers of the North sea fleet have been in progress for the last four days. Eleven iron-clad and ther vessels took part in the evolutions. The naval maneuvers will be concluded in the Baltic. On September 6th the fleet vill leave Kiel and will join other vssses concentrating at Swinemunde, where the emperor on the imperial yacht Hohen collern will watch the evolutious. The fleet may be ordered to Dantzic, but it will not co-operate in maneuvers there with the military. Neither will the night crossing of the river Vogat be effected by the east Prussian troops, as the emperor had hoped, even after the serious outbrak of the cholera. This feature will be replaced, however, with a night attack upon Thorn. The plan of the maneuvers of the main army has been altered so as to locate the principal battlefields between Konigsberg and Elbing, instead of Elbing and Dantzic.

The emperor and empress and the king of Wurtemberg will arrive in Konigsberg on September 9th. They will be welcomed on the Satler platz by thirty young women in white, who will scatter flowers, and do other conventional things never omitted from such receptions. The emperor will unveil a monument to the old emperor, probably emphasizing the importance of the occasion with a political and historical speech. The speech will be followed by the march past of the troops, the veterans and the civic societies. Among the guests at the maneuvers will be Geoltz Pasha, a German soldier in the Turkiah service, and seventeen Turkish oficers who have come north to enter the German army.

The end of the imperial programme involves the concentration of the entire Third army corps in Berlin on September 25th. This corps is generally garrisoned throughout Brandenburg, but will be brought together here with its full 30,000 men to respond to the emperor's alarm signal.

After this demonstration, which is sure to turn the city topsy-turvy while it lasts there will be the formal closing of the mil-itary season with a parade on the Tempel-hofer field. The radical dailies are not pleased with this elaborate programme. As the thou-sands of troops to be concentrated here

Since his return he has thrown himself with tremendous energy into military and political affairs. The newspapers record his many achievements and plans at considerable length. He has confirmed the sentence of an officer who insulted a schoolmaster serving in the re-serve, writing on the margin of the re-port: "I never before supposed that there was such a boor in my army." The office hastened to throw up his commission after learning of this comment on his conduct.

The police have found secret meeting places frequented by anarchists in Bremen, Luebeck, Lundensheld, Nordhausen, Mainz, Rixdorf, Forst, Weissenfels, Wisbaden, Halle, Hamburg, Altona, Hummelsburg and Duesseldorf. They have learned also that there are anarchist groups in Leipsic, Madgeburg and Frankfort, although still unable to find the meetfort, although still unable to find the meet-ing places in these three towns. The first result of these discoveries is the govern-ment's decision to increase the police in Berlin, where many anarchist meetings have been held in the last six months. The emperor's prize which is to be rowed for hereafter at the annual regatta at Greanau is a large silver tankard, handsomely ornamented and valued at $1,200. The race for it will be open to all university crews from England or Germany. If Englishmen win the prize, a German crew must go to England to get it back. The Hamburg and Munieh rowing clubs will send crews to the third European rowing congress, which will be opened at Macon on September 15th.

A Military Jag. A military scandal of the first magnitude A military scandal of the first magnitude was reported yesterday from Marienwerden. A mess dinner of brigade officers was held there early in the week and one hundred of the guest got drunk. They formed a line with the band at their head and marched through the streets. Some were without helmets or caps, others were without coats and all brandished swords or cames. Their singing brought out a big crowd of boys and roughs, who fell in behind and jeered and ridiculed the rest of the procession. All of the officers will be court-martialed.

Two of the Britannia's Crew Drowned. London, August 26.—The first mate and the eaterer of the yacht Britannia and an engineer of a steam yacht anchored near the Britannia, started to go ashore yester-day in a sailboat. A storm prevailed at the time, and today their boat was found float-ing bottom up in Weymouth harbor, where the yachts are lying. The occupants had been drowned. Because of the accident it is expected that the prince of Wales will order the Britannia not to take part to-morrow in the regatta of the Royal Yacht Club, off Torquay, in which she is entered.

IT WAS A FAILURE.

The Demonstration in Hyde Park London, August 26.—The national league for the abolition of the house of lords made a demonstration in Hyde park today. It had been much advertised and was expected to be an imposing affair, but it was a flasco. Hardly ten thousand persons were present. Dispersed among the speakers' platforms they looked pitiably few. Willis a O'Brien, Dr. Tanner and Thomas Curran, all Irish members of parliament, delivered the principal speeches. They elicited little enthusiasm. William O'Brien warned the government that the continua-tion of the Irish support would depend on its fidelity to the crusade against the lords and their policy of blocking the way to reform.

While the conservative journals treat the anti-lords demonstration as a fizzle, The Daily News contends that it was successful and estimates the number of persons who gathered round the platforms at 100,000. The News adds that the procession was small because most persons walked to the park independently of the organizations.

While He Was in the Surf at Atlantic City-Panie Among the Buthers. Atlantic City, N. J., August 26 .- William Carr, aged twenty years, was instantly killed this afternoon by a bolt of lightning while in bathing in company with two young women. He had just entered the surf and had but risen from a dive beneath a breaker when the flash came, the first intimation of a coming storm, and the bolt struck him with a fatal shock. His companions, the Misses Farnum were within ten feet of him when the bolt descended. They suffered a severe electrical shock, and were also prostrated by fright at sight of their companion's lifeless body. There were hundreds of people in the surf nearby, and thousands on the strand and beach who saw the fatal flash and the mark it struck. There was an instant panic among The bathers, who, more or less, felt the radiating shock, and they hurried out onto the strand as if fearful of another visitation of the destroying element. Although restoratives were promptly applied young Carr could not be revived. His death is said to be the first by lightning ever occurring

The car, which contained about eighty people, while descending a steep grade just opposite Mountain avenue, became unmanageable and dashed around a curve at a terrific rate of speed, breaking the flange off one of the forward wheels. The car left the track and capsized down a slight embankment, Broken glass flew in all directions and the excited occupants were thrown into a confused heap. Two little boys, named Lloyd and Coyle, aged four and six years, respectively were possibly fatally hurt. Mrs. Frank Davis, of Bloomfield, was seriously hurt. It is said that the brakes on the car failed to work and the motorman losing his head, did not turn on the reverse current, which would have stopped the car.

Two brothers named Burwell have had a feud growing out of the division of their father's property. One lived with his mother and wife at the old home. The other went there to see his mother. The other brother suddenly rushed out of the house at him with a revolver in his hand and began firing, while the ladies screamed with fear. The visiting brother returned the fire and eleven shots were returned while the men were in the exchanged while the men were in the y.rd. The resident brother was shot in the leg. One brother had just been released from a peace bond, having made threats against the other.

Particulars of the Damage Done.

St. Petersburg, August 26.—A wind of death. No other name can describe the cyclone that swept across the sea of Azoff yesterday. It will be impossible for days yet to compute the damage done, but it is almost certain that at least 1,000 people have perished, some by drowning, others by being crushed under falling nouses and trees. The excitement is great among the American colony in this city, for it is feared that at least two parties of American tourists were on the sea of Azoff at the time the wind did its deadly work. At Marianople over 200 people were killed and nine-tenths of the houses were destroyed. At a fishing village named Nogaisk all the men were out at sea. The town was destroyed and none of the boats returned to shore. At the hour of the latest report not one of the steamers that touch at the port of Berdainsk had arrived. Fears are expressed that every craft in the sea has gone to the bottom and that every passenger is drowned. When the wind swept over the northern end of the Azoff it took a ne wcourse, going southerly along the coast of the land of the Black Cossacks. In turn Fish and Achuey were ravaged, each town being almost totally destroyed. Telegraphic communication with this district is suspended and it is impossible to learn the extent of the destruction, but at least 1,00 persons must have died on the wo shores. The storm as nearly as can now be learned, seemed to suddenly lose its force near Emrink and passed off with comparative quiet, southerly, over the Black sea.

Waters of Gohna Lake Break Bounds, Destroying as They Go. Simla, August 26.—Gohna lake, which for some time past has threatened to break its bounds and sweep down the valley at the head of which it lies, has proken the dam which controlled the waters. Villages along the valley were swept out of existence an instant after the roaring torrent of waters struck them. Ample warning had been given by the government and the inhabi-tants of the valley, with all of their mova-ble property, had been removed, so that no life was lost.

The Situation at the Mines.

Cleveland, O., August 26.—News received from the Massilion coal fields is to the effect that the miners have refused to accept the ultimatum of the operators, which provided that they should resume work tomorrow upon a schedule of wages based on the Columbus scale. It is said that liany of the miners are now removing their tools from the miners and it is believed that the operators will carry out their intention of resuming work tomorrow with non-union men. The miners of the Massilion district, about 3,000 in number, have been on a strike since February 17, 1894.

Called for a Convention New York, August 28.—The committee appointed by the Central Labor Union to con pointed by the Central Labor Union to confer with representatives of the people's party as to their joining issues on political lines, submitted their report at the meeting of the Cen'ral Labor Union this afternoon. The report recommended that the union issue a call to all laboring organizations in the city to attend on September 1st a convention of the people's party and the Central Labor Union. The report was accepted and an order for the call was issued.

Will Not Run the Mill. New Bedford, Mass., August 26.—The police officers were notified by the management of the Bristol mill tonight that their attendance at the mill gates tomorrow morning would be needed, as no attempt would be made to run the mills. The operatives look upon this as a good sign, and will hold a mass meeting in the morning in the vicinity of the mill in order to give the weak-hearted courage. The utmost quiet has prevailed among the strikers today. It is almost an assured fact that three more of the large yarn corporations will start up this weak at the circular at the second course.

A POPULAR CLUB.

Annual Election of Officers of the Saturday Hight Club.

HOW IT HAS GROWN IN POPULARITY

It Is Composed of Many Bright Young Men, and Its Weekly Discussions Are of Great Interest.

The Saturday Night Club reached another mile stone in its delectable history Sat-

The annual election of officers was held and a staff composed of some of the brain-iest young men in the city, was chosen to guide the club during the next year. The meeting was a largely attended one, and the proceedings, consisting of the usual debate, supplemented by the annual election, proved of no small interest.

The club is one of the most entertaining organizations in the city. It is composed of the brainlest and best young men of the city, and weekly debates are held to which entire public are invited. Timely questions are discussed, and the young men who engage in the discussions are vastly benefited. The club has grown steadily in opularity since its organization, and is ow at the most flourishing period of its

The meeting was held at the Church of Our Father, on Church street, on Saturday night. The little church was well filled with an appreciative audience. The election re-sulted in the selection of the following offi-cers: President, Gordon F. Mitchell; vice president. W. W. Davies; secretary-treas-urer, Warren Boyd; sergeant at arms, Walter P. Andrews.

The newly elected officers are all well known young men, and there is no doubt that the club, during their administration, will be kept up to its present high stand-ard. The new president is a lawyer, by profession, and has the confidence and esteem of all who know him. He was one of the charter members of the club, and is one of ha most enthusiastic members.

After the election of officers the regular debate was held. The question for discussion was: "Resolved, That the tax imposed the national government on whisky uld be $1 per gallon instead of the pres-

rs. W. H. Terrell and C. J. Hader argued the affirmative side of the question, while Messrs. A. E. Parkham and James T. Wright upheld the negative side of the debate. The debate was an interesting one. President Andrews rendered his decision in favor of the negative.

DON'T FAIL TO GO.

Polsom's Evening at the Marietta Street Opera House Occurs Tonight. The entertainment for the benefit of Mr. Montgomery M. Folsom occurs tonight at DeGive's Marietta street opera house and a programme of the most entertaining order will be presented. The people that will take part, including Mr. Folsom, are nearly all newspaper men. Frank L. Stanton, that prince of poets, will be one of the features of the evening with one of his delightful readings. Joe Johnson, who is a genius of the most potent order, will astonish his audience with something new and splendtd-such as he alone is able to conjure up. Mr. Alex W. Beaier will give a dialect reading of his own in that inimitable style, so true to the darky dialect. Then Walter Howard, too. will give valuable assistance and add much to the programme.

And there are others who will help make the programme delightful, so come out and enjoy yourself tonight in a good cause. There will be a very delightful entertainment at Hibernian hall Wednesday night of this week for the benefit of the Hibernian Rifles. After an interesting programme dancing will be indulged in until a late hour.

NEW POLICE RULES.

Mayor Goodwin Now Has Them Under Consideration.

Policemen will not be allowed to smoke cary walking canes or carry umbrellas while on duty, if Mayor Goodwin signs the new police rules. One paragraph in the regulation makes especial provision against

Mayor Goodwin will, in a few days, announce his decision on the new rules that have been adopted by the board of police commissioners and the council, and they will, in all probability, be fully approved by

Then the rules say the chief of police shall as often as possible "pay frequent visits at uncertain hours to various portions of the city that he may know of his own knowledge that the officers and men are performing their duties."

commissioners also want to know what the detective department is doing and the new rules require the chief of detectives to make a daily report to the chief of police of all money and property taken in

The Magic Touch Hood's Sarsaparilla

You smile at the idea. But if you are a sufferer from

Dyspepsia

And Indigestion, try a bottle, and be-fore you have taken half a dozen doses, you will involuntarily think, and no doubt exclaim,

"That Just Hits It!"

"That soothing effect is a magic touch!" Hood's Sarssparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates a natural, healthy desire for food, gives refreshing sleep, and in short, raises the health tone of the entire system. Remember by him. In the future rewards will not find their way to detective or patrolmen.

The rules say: "No officer shall receive rewards, presents or testimonials."

Going further, it says: "All rewards must be deposited with the chief of police until disposed of."

The next paragraph of interest can be construed in more than one way. It reads: "Detectives, under instructions of the board of commissioners or the chief, must abate all gambling houses, rooms and premises and places used for lewd purposes." Men connected with the police service must have as little to do with politics as

The rules say most positively that no man connected with the force shall give, receive or contribute any sum of money to any political purpose. Then they go further and say no officer shall criticise the conduct of his superior.

The next interesting paragraph and the closing one says patrolmen shall not smoke carry umbrellas or walking canes while or

PUT A BALL IN HIM.

George Huntington, of Augusta, Sho by a Constable at Langley, S. C.

Augusta, Ga., August 26.-(Special.)-Mr. George Huntington, of Augusta, was shot by Constable John Richardson in Langley, S. C., this morning. Huntington had been on a spree for several days and this morning went to his boarding house and raised a row. He had a falling out with his wife and broke all the furniture in the room. Then he got real gay and swore he would burn out the whole hotel. The proprietor got scared at this juneture and went to a justice of the peace and swore out a warrant for Huntington's arrest. The warrant was put in the hands of Constable Richardson, who immediately started out for his man. In the meantime Huntington secured a knife from the hotel kitchen and had gone on the streets threatening to kill any one who interfered with Constable Richardson deputized Mr. Floyd to assist him in the arrest. They met Huntington on Main street and Richardson told him to throw up his knife, as he was going to arrest him. Huntington did not do as requested and was told a second time. He still refused. Richardson then told him if he would not put up the knife he would shoot. Huntington replied: "Shoot and be damned to you." Then the constable fired. The bullet took effect in the right shoulder just above the collar bone and came out in the back part of his neck. He was then overpowered and sent to Aiken jail for safe keeping. His trial will

No blame is attached to th constable's actions, as they were purely in self-defense. Huntington is well known in Augusta, where he was at one time a member of the fire department. He is a brotherin-law to Councilman Wash Adams.

A BILL FOR INJUNCTION

Filed Against the Electric Company of Savannah.

Savannah, Ga., August 26.-(Special.)-A bill for injunction and receiver for the Electric Railway Company, of Savannah, was filed in the superior court last night for the Sloss Iron and Steel Company, of Birmingham; McDonough & Ballantine, and the Palmer Hardware Company, the indebtedness claimed by the three being about $4,750. The bill alleges insolvency, and the formation of a pool of certain bondholders for the purpose of relieving the road for a time of the payment of interest, which is alleged to be fraudulent. Some of the bondholders of the road have also intervened and adopted the allegations set forth. The matter will be heard before Judge Falligant naxt Saturday. This is thought to be the outcome of the fight that has been going on for the last four months between this line and the City and Suburban street

About one hundred Savannah Knights of Pythias left today on the Florida Central and Peninsular railroad for Washington to attend the biennial conclave. Of these twenty-six were of the uniform rank.

It was developed today that the robbery of the grave of Mrs. S. Krouskoff at Bona venture cemetery had been made in order to get certain jewelry which is said to have been buried with her, consisting of several diamond rings and an onyx pin. An investigation showed that fully half the body had been taken from the grave. The matter is in the hands of detectives and a $100-re ward has been offered for the capture of the thieves.

CALLED TO ATLANTA.

Rev. H. P. Blakely to Take Charge of the Associate Reform Presbyterians. Rev. H. P. Biakely, of Lancaster, S. C. has been called to Atlanta and will take charge of the Associate Reform Presbyterian church in this city. It is very likely that he will preach here next Sunday. His last sermon at Lancaster was preached yesterday. Rev. Mr. Blakely comes to Atlanta in response to a call from the board of home missions of the Associate Reform Presby terian church here. He is a man of great terian church here. He is a man of great personal magnetism and wields a power-ful influence for good. The Lancaster Ledger has the following to say of him: "Mr. Blakely has been pastor of the Lancaster, Gills Creek and Unity Associate Lancaster, Gills Creek and Unity Associate Reform Presbyterian churches the past four years. During that time he has added to the church rolls about sixty names, and the spiritual condition of these churches was never better. He is a devour man and an earnest Christian worker, not confining his labors to his own churches, but always ready to assist churches of other denominations in times of revivals. He organized a church at the Buford battleground about a year ago, which now has twenty members and a house of worship. He has not only been faithful in church work, but earnest in his efforts for the advancement of education and prohibition. He is public-spirited and Lancaster will miss him."

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

Will Hold One Next Month.

FADING MEN TO BE PRESENT AT IT

And Lecture on Important Matters-The New Charter of Augusta Antagoniz-,ed by the Street Railroad Men.

Augusta, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—The Richmond County Agricultural Society will hold a farmers' institute the fourth Saturday in September, the 22d, at their clubhouse, five miles from the city, out in the country. It will be the largest attended and most important session in the blatem. most important session in the history of leading and best informed agriculturists in Georgia and South Carolina will be invited and they will all give instructive lectures on farming. Among the principal who have been invited and who speakers who have been invited and who have signified their acceptance of the invitations are Professor H. C. White, of Athens, professor of chemistry of the University of feorgia; the commissioner of agriculture of Georgia, R. T. Nesbitt, and President farry Hammond, of the Beech Island

Farmers' Club.
Professor White, in his letter of acceptance, says it gives him pleasure to accept the invitation and that he will be glad to contribute what he may to the profit of the Commissioner Nesbitt wrote that he would be here and he hopes to be in a condition, gastronomically, to enjoy the good ideas The vistors will be handsomely enterd after the meeting to a genuine, old-time Georgia barbecue.

Captain William H. Warren, president, Colonel Wilberforce Daniel, secretary of the agricultural society, are the two popular officers of the club who are exert-ing their efforts to make the coming meeting a grand and glorious success in every way, and there is no doubt but what they

The proposed new charter for the city of Augusta is being fought by the Twners of the franchise of the old Augusta and Summerville street railroad, which has the exclusive rights of the streets of the city. ad section of the new grant deof the streets to any railroad. The charter is now in the hands of a conference com-mittee composed of members of the charer commission and city councilmen appointed to reconcile the changes made in

At the next meeting of the conference committee representatives of the street rairoad will go before the committee and that the railroad section be so amended as to allow the city to sell the rights of

If the railroad fails to accomplish its purpose then it will try to have the bill de feated by the people, if it is submitted to a vote of the majority, and if it does not go to the people then the fight against it will be made when it is carried up to the legislature for passage. It was the original in-tention of the council to submit the charter to the people, but since it has been found out that there is opposition to it the council is now inclined not to leave it to a popular vote, but transmit it direct to the legislature for enactment.

The old street railroad now has a mo nopoly on every street in the city and re-ceives a royalty on every carload of freight received in Augusta from the railroads. Of course the railroads do not pay the royalty but make the merchants pay for it by adding the extra amount paid to the street railroad on to the freight charges. And the merchant does not pay the royalty, but he adds the extra expense to the cost of his which the consumers, in the end,

The charter of the street railroad will expire in less than two years—in 1896—but already the company is planning to get a renewal of its charter and that is the reason of the fight against the city charter. If the railroad section is not amended the railroad will lose its exclusive rights, but if the city is allowed to sell the rights of the streets it will be a high bidder for a renewal, and is willing to pay a big price for the franchise, for it reaps handsome

Whether or not the charter is amended to please the railroad monopolists, if after the expiration of the railroad's present right, the city council should renew the objectionable contract the people will rise in their might and protest against such administration of affairs which would be against the interest of the city. The people are now kicking against the possibility of the council doing such a thing, and if it did it would meet with the greatest opposition. The rights of the street railroad have been considered a millstone around the city's neck, which, to a great extent, has retarded and menaced its progress, and it is not proposed to allow a renewal of such an agreement.

Fusion with Independents.

The opinion of your correspondent, after mingling with the populists at their double-barrel convention in Thomson last Tuesday, is that the third partyites are in sympathy with the independent movement here in Richmond county. They manifested con-siderable interest in the fight the independents are making in Augusta and look upon the movement as a wedge to split the solid democracy.

They all anxiously inquired as to what progress the Dutcherites were making, and encouragingly told that they were making progress and devoloping strength, it would tickle them with delight and a bright smile would illumine their faces; and if they happened to be truthfully told that the bolting faction was weak and in a woeful minority, their faces would become contracted and they would look like they had bit a sour grape. There is hardly a doubt but what the third partyites will unitedly support the independent ticket and gladly do so, too, and they are lending their support hoping to split the party, but they will never succeed. The demo-crats are not asleep and they are dead on to the tactics of the populists, and they don't intend to be caught napping. To show to what extent the populists are in sympathy with the Dutcherites, they dis-cussed, after the convention, the en-counter between Hon. Bryan Cumming and Mr. Salem Dutcher, down at Gibson on Monday. A delegate from Glascock related the incident, after which the com-parative strength of the combatants was considered. Some one remarked that Mr. Dutcher was physically weak and could not cope with Mr. Cumming in a fisticum, not cope with Mr. Cumming in a fisticult, which was generally agreed upon. The populist who told the story of the difficulty said the matter of physical superiority was of no consequence, and went on to say that Mr. Cumming could never have bested Mr. Dutcher, for there were those present who would have interfered and Mr. Cumming would have got the worst of it if they had not been separated. The intimation of the speaker was that the populist crowd present would have taken up Mr. Dutcher's fight and would have done up Mr. Cumming. The above is only one of many lessons that goes to illustrate how strongly the populists are backing and supporting the independents.

Gibson, Ga., August 28.—(Special.)—Reuben Kitchen and Jim Harris, latter colored, who were last week sentenced to the penitentiary for life, broke jail here today at 12 o'clock and made good their escape. They attempted to burn the jail last night, but failed in their efforts. The sheriff with a posse is after them. Will Jones, who was convicted of larceny from the house, was in jail with them, but he did not leave the jail.

FIVE LARGE SHIPS

and Great Britain.

THE BRUNSWICK TERMINAL COMPANY

Owners, and the First Vessel Will Leave Brunswick September 30.

Brunswick, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—Without any intimation to the outside world a Brunswick firm has established diect trade between Brunswick and Liverpool and commencing on September 30th a line of five British steamships will begin to piy regularly every two weeks between Georgia and the United Lingdom. The line has been established by the Brunswick Terminal Company through their president. Major A. F. Churchill and the consummation of the deal was so quiet that all Brunswick will be both astonished and delighted when it is made public.

The movement was set on foot some time ago by Major Churchill, and last May the matter had reached such a favorable point through correspondence that ne made a personal visit to England and spent several weeks in closing the deal. On his return to this country nothing was said about the deal until all preliminary arrangements were made and then circular fetters were addressed to exporters throughout the south and west informing them of the new

In an interview with Major Churchill to-day he informed The Constitution correspondent that the owners of the line were spondent that the owners of the line were the Ulster Steamship Company, limited, with C. E. DeWolf & Co., Liverpool, agents. The line is styled "Head Line," with five first-class steamers between Brunswick and Liverpool for both passengers and freight. The steamships and their tonnage are: Ramore Head, 4,444 tons; Mishowen Head, 3,050 tons; Bengore Head, 2,458 tons; Dunmore Head, 2,229 tons; Seein Head, 1,667 tons.

The Ramore Head is one of the heaviest tonnage steamships that ever entered a southern port. The pro-osed sallings are Mishowen Head on September 30th, to be followed by other steamers every two weeks with through bills of lading granted from all points. In addition to these steamers the Terminal company will have frequent sailings to Bremen and Hamburg during the season with fall and spring sailings to the Baltic. This new move is the best one from a commercial standpoint recorded from Brunswick in years, and Georgia and the whole southern country will be immensely benefited by it. The commencing of this line will make the annual exports from Brunswick extraordinarily large, compared with previous exports, and will have a beneficial effect in furnishing employment to an additional large number of laborers and skilled workmen around vessels.

MATTERS IN MACON.

Richmond County Agricultural Society | To Ply Regularly Between Brunswick | Mayor Horne to Be Absent from the City for a Few Days,

AND THE MAYOR PRO TEM. IS ABSENT

So Council Will Have to Elect a Chairman at Its Next Meeting-A Shooting
Affray-Death of an Old Citizen.

Macon, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—Mayor Horne calculates on leaving the city in the next day or two and is chairman of Council and Mayor Pro Tem. Carling is also absent, it will devolve upon council to elect a chairman of council at its regular meeting Tuesday night. The probability is that Alderman B. W. Sperry. chairman of the finance committee, will be elected chairman pro tem. of council In which event he will be the acting mayor during the absence of Mayor Horne and Chairman Carling. Colonel Sperry is the popular proprietor of the Brown house, and one of the most efficient and faithful aldermen Macon has ever had.

A Shooting Affray. Last night in East Macon Bob Reed fired a pistol three or four times at J. C. Clements, a photographer, but none of the balls took effect. Clements enlarged a photograph for Reed and went to Reed's house to collect the charges. A quarrel ensued. It is said Clements snapped his pistol at Reed, but the weapon would not fire. Reed went into the house, got his pistol, and returning, fired at Clements. Both parties were arrested.

Petition for Injunction. In the absence of Judge Hardeman petition has been sent to Judge Jenkins, of Eatonton, asking that the board of public school education be enjoined from making an appropriation for the maintenance of the Forsyth street school, generally known as the Gatholic school. It is held that the school is denominational and it is, therefore, contrary to law for the public money to be devoted for that purpose. Or the other hand, it is claimed that the school is not denominational and has been operated over twenty years in like manner as now. The result of the injunction will be awaited with great interest

Mr. Willis Dead. Mr. Frank Willis, a highly esteemed citizen of Bibb county, is dead. He died at the residence of his nephew, Mr. Jerry Wil-lis, at Walden. He was a man of fine character and possessed a genial and noble nature. The deceased was for years an engineer on the Central road. His death is deeply mourned.

Chief Jones Returns.

Mr. L. M. Jones, chief of the Macon fire department, returned this morning from Montreal, where he has been in attendance on the annual convention of the fire chiefs of America. He reports a largely attended and interesting convention. Chief Jones has been absent about three weeks. While away he visitd Toronto, Quebec, White Mountains, Portland, Boston and New York, One of his companions was Chief Joyner, of Atlanta. He left Cap in New York. Chief Jones says there was a lively contest between Salt Lake City and Augusta for the next convention. The Georgia town

A Very Sick Man.

Yesterday morning A. Z. Olds, a drummer for the Mosler-Bahman Safe Company, was found by a policeman lying on the sidewalk near the city hall. He seemed to be in great pain and critically ill. He was taken to the city hall, where City Physician Sul-livan and Dr. Hope attended him. The physicians administered to him throughout the day and last night. He suffered agonies and had frequent paroxysms. He is thought to be better this morning, though his condi-tion is still alarming. He has been in Ma-con about a month. He was taken to the Roff home today. May Accept the Call.

It is possible that Rev. S. L. Morris, pasthe Second Presbyterian church, will resign to accept a call to a large church in Pensacola. Mr. Morris has not yet an-nounced his attentions but is giving the matter careful consideration.

There will, no doubt, be a lively rush of applicants for the position of secretary of the Dixie Interstate Fair Association, an office which Mr. J. R. Kennedy has been holding, and which he resigned last night. The position has been paying $20 per week, The position has been paying & per week, but it is understood that hereafter the salary will be $25 per week. It is a very important office, and the secretary will have a great deal of work to do from now until after the fair. The directors will meet tomorrow night and elect Mr. Kennedy's successor. Mr. Kennedy has piaced the preliminary work in good condition, and the secretary can take it up and carry it to a successful conclusion. The fair promises to be a great success, both in exhibit and attendance of visitors. The fist of attractions is large and unuasually fine.

Who Will Be Inspector? Who Will Be Inspector?

It is said that Mr. Harry Davis has resigned the office of chief sanitary inspector, on account of sickness. There will be a flood of applicants for the place as soon as it is known there is a vacancy. The office pays only $50 per month, but in these dull times this is considered good pay, and there are many excellent men who would be glad to get it.

BE NOT DECEIVED.

Constitution Readers Likely to Be Cunningly Swindled

Ingenius Scheme of Deception Unwary.

"There Is No Vice So Simple but Assumes Some Mark of Virtue in His Outward Parts."

In Wednesday's Constitution the leading editorial was devoted to an expose of the insidious attempt of the jute trust to deceive cotton shippers. This brings us to the consideration of another matter upon which the public should be informed.

Believing that the wide dissemination of the new edition of the Encyclopaedia Brithe new edition of the Encyclopaedia Bri-tannica would be a lasting and decided benefit to the people of this section, a special introductory contract was secured from the Britannica publishers wholly in the interest of our readers. The Constitution is not in or our readers. The Constitution is not in the book business for any profit on the sales. It is not concerned, in a pecuniary sense, further than the legitimate increase of the number of subscribers to the daily and the weekly Constitution. The knowledge of the educational good it is accomplishing through this liberal offer would alone be sufficient recompense for the entire undertaking.

plishing through this liberal offer would alone be sufficient recompense for the entire undertaking.

This liberal enterprise of The Constitution has excited the cupidity of certain persons who have other books to sell. Taking advantage of our methods for introduction of Britannica into houses not already provided, they seek to cunningly impress prospective buyers that they can offer something "practically the same" or "just as good." This is deceptive, and we wish our readers to understand that the new edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica is just off the press; that it has never been offered to the public before in any section of the United States, and that it can be had only from The Constitution or its authorized representatives. All others purporting to be the same are so presented for the purpose of deception.

This is a matter to which The Constitution has been slow to make reference, because we recognize the right of every man to advance his own pecuniary interests by selling any books he may have or may be able to obtain. While no reference library can be found equal to the new edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, yet The Constitution recognizes the fact that this does not render other reference libraries valueless; and there may be those who could not afford to purchase the best even at the not render other reference informes value-less; and there may be those who could not afford to purchase the best even at the exceptionally low introductory price now offered to The Constitution readers. It would be an undoubted blessing to such to obtain a reference library of any sort that would come within their means, for all ref-erence books are valuable aids towards self-education.

would come within their means, for all reference books are valuable aids towards self-education.

There can be no objection, therefore, to other persons offering their books for sale anywhere and at any time they see fit, so long as they confine themselves to the truth, and sell their books at proper prices not attempting by deceptive methods, to obtain for their inferior works a price which would enable the purchaser, had he not been deceived, to obtain the genuine new edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. It would be all well enough if these inferior works were sold at a price proportionate, but those who buy should understand that they are not getting the new edition, nor anything like it. A reference to any modern subject; such as Australian ballot system, welded iron by electricity, electrocution, etc., show how utterly inadequate these out-of-date editions are to fill the needs of a man who wants up-to-date information. Some of these litinerants have been so bold as to use language intended to lead buyers to believe that they were representative of The Constitution. A little care however, will uncover this mask, as every person who is authorized to offer the new edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica is provided with a letter of Identification from The Constitution. If not provided with such a letter, which the buyer has a right to see, the purchasers may know that he is not a representative of The Constitution, nor has he the genuine new edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica for sale.

Another Explanation.

The Springfield Republican, which is always ingenious in its arguments, undertakes at some length to explain the troubles in the New England cotton mills. It falls back on the theory of overproduction, and says:

The trouble with the New Bedford and Fall River cotton manufacturers is neitner low tariff nor high wages nor high prices of raw material. They have on the c trary been favored by ample tariff, wages reduced from former rates and lower cotton quotations. Their trouble is a glutted goods market. They have pro-duced more than there was a demond for, and they have consequently sought to mar-ket goods by reducing prices and now they seek to make their prices bring a profit or cutting wages. It is manifest that this course offers no permanent remedy. Overproducing would continue as before, and this would lead to further sacrifices on and further wage reductions. manufacturers had much better shut down their mills for a time or run shorter hours until old stocks have been worked off.

The ingenuity of the foregoing lies in the fact that it is well calculated to sat isfy the minds of those who take only a superficial view of things, and who do not go to the trouble of thinking for themselves. And yet, as there are numbers of people in New England who have risen superior to the flatteningout process of the public school system, some of the readers of The Republican may be moved to ask themselves how It is that the goods market is glutted? To say that the goods market is glutted is to say, of course, that there has been overproduction at the mills, and some of The Republican's New England readers will doubtless ask themselves why there is less demand for the products of the New England mills at this time than there has been at any period these twenty years. It will occur to them that there are even more people needing clothes in the year 1894 than there were in 1892, when stock on hand in the England mills had been exhausted by the demard. It will occur to them, too, that the output of the mills was very much larger in 1891-92 than it has been in 1893-94, and then the fact will dawn on their minds that their favorite newspaper has landed them in the midst of a muddle The convenient theory of overproduc tion will do very well for editorial padding, but there is nothing in it to satisfy an inquiring mind. To say that there is an overproduction of cotton goods when thousands upon thousands of men, women and children are shirtless and shiftless (to use a homely phrase) is to insult the intelligence of people who know how to reason. There never was and never can be overproduction as long as necessity calls for any article.

But if The Republican means that the goods market is glutted because there is small demand for the mill products It is getting nearer to the facts. Even then its explanation will need to be explained. It has touched only one link in the chain of incontestable facts. With a larger population and larger markets, than in 1891-92 is there a smalle demand? Why is it that the Providence and Fall River manufacturers had 1,567,000 pieces of goods on hand August 17, 1894, when they had not a plece on hand on the 19th of August. 1892? The people's necessities are even larger today than they were in 1892. Why then has the demand ceased to an extent that justifies a leading New England newspaper in describing the goods market as glutted?

There is but one explanation that will explain. The Republican knows very well what that explanation is, but the editor would go to the rack before he would offend the sensibilities of the eastern gold trust by acknowledging it. The demand for the mill products has parctically ceased because, although they are cheaper than they ever were before, the ability of the people to buy has been brought to a very low ebb. The purchasing power of labor has been cut in half, and, in numberless cases, has been wiped out altogether. The same cause that has destroyed the purchasing power of labor has affected the demand for it, so that we have today In this vast country with its wonderful resources still awaiting development, the spectacle of millions upon millions of dollars' worth of labor power going to waste-millions of men idle, consti tuting a drain upon the nation almost

The Republican knows very well what the cause of all this is, but it will run into a corner and spin theories without number before it will acknowledge the fact. The goods market is glutted be cause the demand for the mill products has almost ceased. The demand for the mill products has been brought down to a narrow margin because the purchasing power of labor has been cut down and largely wiped out, and the process is still going on. In other words the purchasing power of the gia farmers, and it is encouraging to gold dollar has been doubled by the note the fact that in the short space demonetization of silver. It falls to the lot of our small and constantly dwindling stock of gold to stand for the value of all the property, all the productive labor and all the energy of this vast country. As a result, the dollar unit of gold has doubled in value during the past twenty years, and the value of the property and the productive labor of the country is now shrinking and adinsting itself to the increased and constantly increasing value of gold, in the units of which all other values are now expressed. Business has also been compelled to fit Itself to the narrow demands of the single gold standard. The process goes loosely under the name of 'depression"-"lack of confidence",-or something of that kind; but it is simply the inevitable adjustment that any individual or merchant would have to make if he found that half of his working capital had been destroyed.

The whole country finds itself in just that condition. More than half of the money of final payment has been destroyed-abolished-and the inevitable adjustment must be made.

The whole process is so cruel, sinister and ruinous, and withal so unjustifiable, that it has been described as the greatest of modern crimes. But even this description seems tame when the mind contemplates the poverty, the distress, the disaster and the despair that have been brought on the people to satisfy the unconquerable greed and avarice of the bondholders and bankers of the civilized world.

Still Coming In. The Constitution recently cited numerous instances where leading colored voters in different parts of the state had published cards in local newspapers announcing their return to the democratic party from the populist ranks; but here is an open letter, written to The Buena Vista Patriot by James M. Meyers, a prominent colored man, which is clearer and more emphatic than any heretofore published. The letter is as follows:

Is it true that the white democrats of this country are divided, the result of which is the formation of a new political party called the populist? Is it true that some of the great men of the latter who hereto-fore held and taught that democracy was good, true and reliable, now say it is the reverse? And is it true that these men who all their lives have been democrats and teachers of the uninformed (that is, the larger portion of the colored race). unteach what they have taught, and undo what they have done?

If it is true, I have this to say for the benefit of my race: We have been told by men of the populist party that the democratic party was all right, and got us to vote with them for the good of our country. Let us see to it that if they form another party without our consent or knowledge that we cast not our ballots for a single nominee of said party. When men are running very fast they should take care not to stop too suddenly. It is very dangerous. We have always voted with ou democratic white friends in all elections except national, and we will do so again. We have nothing to say against the p lists except that they taught us that democratic party was good, etc., and have left it and formed a new one without giving us any just reasons. So let us abide in the old ship a while longer. We cannot suffer ourselves to be led about by every wind and tide of political doctrine. We say that the etter schools for the colored youth under democratic administration, and we bound to vote for its nominees again and again. This we say without fear or hope of reward. Again, I would teach that we let well enough alone and have peace and unity in our great country, upon which, depends its prosperity and the happiness of the people Let the colored people stick to the democratic party as their best friend.

The above clearly indicates the line on which the intelligent colored voters of the state are working. Giving the populists all the credit due them, the colored voter, after a careful survey of the situation, sees that his best interests are more closely allied with democracy; and this is everywhere so apparent to him that he voluntarily comes over from the camps of the populists and enlists under the democratic ban-

We give prominence to these announcements of colored voters because of their significance; they are not only examples of common sense, but they are the results of an intelligent study of political conditions on the part of colored men, who can no longer be led astray by every wind and wave of political doctrine.

They are doing their own thinking, and they will vote in accordance with their honest convictions. They are taking an active interest in the state campaign, and they will go on record at the polls-and the record will be one of which they will not be ashamed.

Making It Hot for Him.

We called attention yesterday to the alleged increase in suicide following the publication of Mr. Ingersoll's defense of ft. Some of the New York papers are making it hot for the colonel in this respect.

Now, when a man blows his brains out in that city, or jumps overboard, they end the story by saying that he was a recent convert to Ingersoll's suicide theories, and as this is almost an every day occurrence, they are having grim fun at Ingersoll's expense.

On Friday last a man jumped to his death from the Brooklyn bridge. The next morning The New York Recorder said: "The unfortunate man had probably read Colonel Ingersoll's defense of

And so it goes. The colonel is tough and can stand these funereal jests; but as there is considerable truth in them. they are calculated to give an ordinary man the cold shivers.

A Campaign That Tells.

Before the seed which has blossomed into bountiful harvests in southwest Georgia was laid in the soil The Albany Herald began a common sense campaign among the farmers of that section. Its motto was: "Provisions firstcotton last," and rich indeed, have been the results of that campaign.

In summing up, The Herald says that the outlook for a prosperous business season has not been as favorable in years as it is now. The farmers owe less money; have made large provision crops and after their general crops have been marketed they will have a com fortable cash surplus on hand. Hard work, and work on the right line has done this for the southwest Georof one year they have retrieved much of their lost industrial prestige and have placed themselves on an independent

We believe that what is true of south west Georgia in this respect is true, also, of other sections of the state. The Georgla farmer is ahead for once, and give every indication of his purpose to re-

The Herald's campaign in the southern portion of the state was not without influence. Its example is worthy of emulation.

A State Reforatory.

Governor Northen has been doing good work in the interest of a state reformatory. This has been for years past one of the most important questions before the people of Georgia; a question which has been agitated from time to, time, without accomplishing anything; but one which, we are glad to note, has been revived under such favorable auspices.

The Constitution has earnestly advocated this needed reform; has pointed out the evils of our present prison system, where juvenile offenders are made to herd with older and hardened criminals, and on numerous occasions has voiced the need of Georgia in this respect; the judiciary has called attention to it, and the press of the state generally has expressed itself in favor of the reform. But, as stated, nothing has been done.

The Columbus Herald, commenting on a recent address of the governor in that city, says that "he feelingly referred to the need of a reformatory to save children from the penitentiary," and to the embarrassment experienced by the courts and juries when children of tender years are brought before them, charged with trivial offenses. The courts are powerless, under the present system, and judges would gladly welcome a change that would enable them to send children who come before them to some intermediate place where they would not come in contact with crime in ts worst forms. Our Columbus contemporary says: To send children to the penitentiary, where their only associates will be harden-ed criminals, destroys the last hope of reforming them. The penitentiary is correctly styled a vast school of crime. And many an erring youth, who, with proper treatment in a reformatory, might have been de-terred from a life of crime, has left its walls a hardened criminal. It is only a step from the penitentiary to the gallows.

It is true that it will "cost something" establish a reformatory, but the great state of Georgia can well afford to spend all that may be necessary in such a cause And we cannot believe that our citizenship is so niggardly as to decline to endorse the expenditure of any reasonable sum in this next legislature lack the courage to establish a reformatory, let them sub-mit the issue to the people. They would vote overwhelmingly in favor of a reformatory.

it will be seen from the above that the press has taken hold of the subject again, and is putting the matter in its true light. It is a most important matter, and it appeals to every citizen of Georgia. Other states, not so large as Georgia, have their reformatories. Why should Georgia, so advanced in everything else, be backward in this respect? A reformatory is a duty which the ### state owes to humanity. QUEER THINGS IN GEORGIA.

Mr. John Tarrer, of Grangerville, tells an almost serious as well as strange antic of a small-size cyclone which struck his premises some days ago. At about 1 o'clock in the day the family were sitting near a door in the front room with the door closed. Everything outside appeared calm warning, the door was blown of its hinges almost across the room In falling it injured four of the family who were in the room and knocked Mr. Tarrer senseless. It appeared at the time that a cyclone had struck the house, but after recoving from their surprise no sight of its work could be found with the exception of the door.

Lightning struck the house of Charles French in Macon county last Friday. The chimney was demolished and the bricks scattered in every direction. Two clocks were sitting side by side on the mantel, the was filndered into smithereens; the other was left supplies and the side of the si other was left running as though nothing had happened. A china wash bowl, in which a pitcher was sitting, was broken to atoms and the pitcher was left unhurt. There is on a mantel in one of the residences of a Georgia family a piece of stone which bears a striking resemblance to an ancient castle, the turrets, massive doors and strong foundations being dis-tinctly marked. The peculiar feature about the little oddity is that, to hold it under a gaslight, gives the stone the appearance of the building with many lights reflected from the windows.

Some hunters near the Alapaha river in south Georgia were attracted by the continued barking of a dog which seemed to be on the bank of the stream, and near them. It appearing that the dog did not move, the sound coming from the same spot for some time, led them to investigate, thinking perhaps that the dog had "treed" some heavy game. Approaching the spot carefully, they, presently, came in sight of something that made their hair stand on end, so great was their surprise. These but so great was their surprise. prise. There, lying on a sandbed, was an immense fish, the bod; and tall being perfect, but, instead of the regulation head, the monstor's head was shaped like an English bull dog with great rows of teeth glistening in the sun, and, all the teeth glistening in the sun, and, all the time the creature was baying as if about to attack something. Before the hunters had recovered their senses and thought of using their guns, the fish glided into deep water and disappeared, the same dismal barking being heard once or twice after it went under.

Savannah News: The country will soon enter upon a period of unprecedented prosperity. The manufacturers know now the basis upon which they can operate, and business men understand the conditions upon which trade can be conducted.

Macon Telegraph: The reports of the commercial agencies published last Saturday were the most cheerful that have been given to the press in many months. The general telegrams, reporting the resumption of business in mines and mills, justified this feeling of confidence. On every hand there is evidence that we are on the eve of better times, of a revival of industry and commerce—not spasmodic, but steady and progressive.

Dalton Argus: Dalton has passed over the past two years of "hard times" without a wobble. Not a single industry or business house has sunk beneath the wave, and all her merchants are in good shape, able to pay what they owe, if they are not making any money at present. The Sylvania Telephone has this of Chair

The Sylvania Telephone has this of Chairman Clay:

"In all Georgia we do not believe it would have been possible to have found a better man to conduct the present democratic campaign than Chairman Steve Clay. Full of enthusiasm, deeply in love with the great and abding principles of democracy, a treless and indefatigable worker, he whoops up the boys on every hand, and with good humor and yet with fatal precision he pours a storm of shot and shell into the ranks of the populists. His speech in Sylvania last Friday, did more good, perhaps than any that has been delivered in this county since the populist party came into existence, and in the name and behalf of our people The Telephone desires to thank him for it. Democracy in Screven is livelier and more vigorous because he came among us—his enthusiasm was irresistible and infectious, and somehow or other our people feel that if Steve Clay ever wants anything from the democrats of Georgia he can count solidly on Screven."

Hon. E. L. Hudson, who represented Baker county in the last legislature and who has been renominated by the democrats for the same position, was opposed for renomi-nation by Mr. W. L. Sperlin, but captured the plum in the primary on Wednesday of last week after a lively canvass. He is opposed by a third party candidate, Mr. William Ethridge, but expresses himself confident of re-election by a good majority in October, as the third party is much weaker in Baker than it was two years ago

A. L. Knowls, colored, living in Liberty county, has written a letter to the colored people, telling them to beware of the third parties. "The only motive" he "ys," is to secure our votes and they will say and do and promise anything to get them. The Roswell Banner says that the many friends of Hon. J. E. Mozley are disap-pointed at his defeat for representative. Colonel Mozley has made a good record, is one of the brainiest young lawyers in the cir-cuit, and it was generally conceded that his renomination was assured. Yawning and the Devil. From The Springfield, Mass., Republican It is not generally known that the prac-tice exacted by the rules of good society tice exacted by the rules of good society of placing the hand before the mouth when yawning was originally a religious custom Yet such is the case. It was a medieval su perstition that when the evil one desired to take possession of a man's soul he en the mouth. If, after the devi had been long in walt, the victim either remained silent or else spoke so rapidly that the evil spirit could not slip into a wide open mouth, then the arch-flend tor mented his unsuspecting prey into a fit of yawning, in the hope of thereby erfecting an entrance. It was to escape this danger that the yawner held his hand over his mouth. At the same time the sign of the cross was made. The latter custom now survives only in a few tain districts of Europe, while the practice is invariably required by

A counterpart of this superstition is furnished by the painters of the preraphaelite and renaissance periods, especially in Italy. In pictures representing the casting out of an evil spirit they show the latter in the shape of a little black of in the act of escaping from the lips of the lemoniac. In death scenes a blessed spirit is represented as a small, naked flesh-colored man or woman, while a damned soul is either red, the color of sin, or black, the the spirit is often seen issuing from the dying person's mouth. In the facsimile edition of Sir John Mandeville's travels, published in England fifty years ago, Judas is represented as he hangs upon the mulberry tree and the devil is taking black soul from out his side apparently.

Those who have seen the Sistine chapel in Rome will remember Michael Angelo-which represents the last supper. It gives a side view of Judas Iscarlot, and shows a little black devil his shoulder, waiting his opportunity to enter the traitor's soul. ### nected with yawning. How the Beard Should Be Cut

From The London Daily News. Men with long, thin faces should have round beards, if any, But if a man's face abnormally round and fat he should variety of the Van Dyck beard is called. Oddly enough, it is the Americans who chiefly favor this form, though their faces, being long and narrow, need it less that any other, and would often be improved by a round, full beard, trimmed rather

There is one good argument against the beard which ought to have some weight. It nearly always robs the head of hair. It is very seldom that a man can maintain a luxuriant growth of both after the age of forty. Perhaps this may be one reason that whenever long beards are worn son that whenever long beards are worn the hair has been cut short, and whenever the head locks have been permitted to be long the beard has almost entirely disappeared. It is a mistake for short men to wear the beard too long. The head should be a little less than one-seventh the length of the whole body, and the capillary addi-tion to its size throws it quite out of pro-portion. On a very tall man inclined to leanness and angularity a long beard is almost equally a mistake, unless he should happen to be so bountifully supplied by nature that he can have it of width proportionate to its length and so thick as to convey an idea of almost superabundant fullness. He will probably pay for this, however, by being very baid on the top of his head.

TO MEET TOMORROW.

Cotton Compressers Considerably Stirred Up Over Rates.

ORGANIZATION TO BE COMPLETED HERE

The Railroad People Wouldn't Listen to the Arguments for Reconsideration. Reduced from Ten to Seven Cents.

The meeting of the Southern Railway and Steamship Association in New York last week refused to reconsider action in : egerd to the proposed lowering of the rates on cotton compressing to go into effect on September 1st, and in consequence there will be a meeting here tomorrow of more than one hundred compress men from all

The 25th had been set as the day for meeting of the compress men to meet and hear a report from the committee which nas appointed to go before the railroad people in New York and place before them certain facts which were thought to be impregnable. While nothing was said by the compress men to this effect, it is pretty certain that they felt sure that the railroads would not insist on a reduction in the face of the showing that would be made, and a ompromise of 81/2 cents would have been

But the railroads would have none of it, being determined to put the fees where they though it just to place them.

Chairman J. D. Turner, who took an active part in the meetings of the compress owners when they met here several weeks ago, has sent out over one hundred telegrams to various compress owners, asking them to lay all other business aside and come to the meeeting on Tuesday. The compress men are not talking, but it is evident that they intend to take some action upon the reduction of the rates for compressing, and this action will probably be something that will startle the railway officials.

When the cotton compressers meet tomerrow it will probably be in secret session and their deliberations will find no outlet save through the discretion of the secretary. It is known that an organization formed at the last meeting here will be perfected, and that officers will be elected and evetything put in preparation for a consolidated movement to prevent the reduction of the compressing fees as the railroads would have it. The tone of some of the members was for a compromise, but the greater portion are determined to make a fight unless the current of opinion changes.

At the meeting during the middle of this menth the situation received a full discussion, and every foot of argument pro and on was gone over. It was the consensus of opinion among the compressors that the reduction of fees for compressing from 10 to cents would be something that it would be impossible to recover from if it went into effect. The average bale of cotton is about 500 pounds, and this gives to the compressor 50 cents a bale. The compressmen claim that there is an expense of not less than 27 cents involved, leaving, according to this calculation, a profit of 23 cents. The cut of 7 cents would make the total receipts for one bale 35 cents, and with an expense of 27 cents the profits would be

On the other hand the railroad men claim that the cotton men are now receiving no less than a profit of 50 per cent.

This reduction, so the compress men say, will mean a virtual confiscation of the compresses, as it will no longer be worth while to run them. In order to attempt to secure a reconsideration at the adjourned meeting at Manhattan beach on the 22d. just pa l. the compressors met here and a committee of five was appointed to go befire the railroad men and lay before them committee was composed of a number of ominent cotton people, among them being Mr. H. T. Inman and Judge Sam Lumpkin, of Atlanta. The committee's success was not what might have been anticipated and no reconsideration was secured. Unless the railroads take further action the rate will go into effect on September 1st.

Before going to the Manhattan beach meeting, however, the committee called on Major Stahlman as a matter of courtesy and informed him that the members would be present at the Manhattan meeting, and he stated that the railroad men would be glad to hear from them. Great interest is felt among railroad men all over the country in the meeting that will occur here tomorrow, and it is simply impossible as yet to state definitely what will be done. The cotton men are at present very much disturbed over the outlook, as they had not anticipated anything further than a compromise reduction. It is highly probable that officers will be elected before any action whatever is taken, and whatever is given out will go with the seal of the new association.

The railroad men reduced the rate, so it has always been understood, on account of a lot of bad compressing that they were receiving. It is understood always that a twenty-eight foot car will contain fifty bales of cotton, and frequently the compressing was done in such a way as to permit of nothing like that number going in. In order to do away with just such com-Pressing and to defend themselves from the imputation, the better grade compressors who will meet here, are very likely to propose a graded system of rates.

There was some talk of this at the last meting, but nothing was done about it. One member of the asociation proposed that the rate be 10 cents, where fifty bales were placed in a twenty-eight foot car, and the same amount for twenty-five bales where the cotton first made one full car more. Seven cents was suggested by this member for the cotton that was compressed in lots of thirty bales and less. But the whole thing is in strong doubt until the compress men meet, and the result of the meeting is looked forward to with great interest all over the country.

DISCOURSED SWEET MUSIC.

the Industrial Union Band Plays in Public for the First Time.

The Industrial Union band played for the The Industrial Union band played for the first time in public last week at the home of Mr. George Allen, 42 Luckle street. The music was in honor of the Nelson band of King's Daughters, which entertained there at the time. The music was of the first quality and several difficult selections were executed in an admirable fashion.

This band is truly an innovation into the musical field of Atlanta, as it is composed of members from the various industrial minors in the city, and is auxiliary to them. It is at present under the directorship of Professor E. F. Marston, whose abilities are well known and under his leadership the band will probably soon take a front tank in organizations of its kind.

John Carr Slept in the Station House Last Night.

CHARGED WITH BEING AN ACCESSORY

He Was Arrested Yesterday Afternoon. W. J. Brown Locked Up for Gaming. Alex Carr's Sunday in Jail.

The killing of Captain H. O. King was still further complicated yesterday afternoon by the arrest of John Carr, the brother of the assailant, charged with being an accessory to the murder.

It was 4 o'clock when the prisoner was brought to the station house and placed in a cell for secure keeping until the extent of his connection with the killing can be ascertained.

The arrest was made by Detectives Bedford and Wooten. It is thought by the detectives that John Carr, who was at one time in the service of Captain King, was in the conspiracy with his brother, Alex Carr, and the two had devised a plot by which to destroy the life of the deceased. The detectives refuse to talk, but intimate that clues enough are in their possession to connect John Carr with the commission of the crime and to warrant his detention until the matter can be thoroughly investigated.

A reporter for The Constitution called at the station house yesterday afternoon for the purpose of seeing Mr. Carr. He had been in his cell for two or three hours and the close atmosphere had made him very drowsy.

A light tap on his cell door aroused him from his stupor. He rubbed his eyes dreamily and then fixed them, with his gaze rivited upon the entrance to the cell. "How do you do," he said. "Have you come to see me?" Continuing in answer to an inquiry, Carr said: "No. I believe I have nothing to say. I was put under arrest this afternoon, but I am ignorant of the charges which are brought against me. I may feel more like talking tomorrow morning, but tonight I am rather sleepy."

It was in evidence that he was not inclined to talk.

In his personal appearance John Carr is rather above the medium height and has a heavy blacy mustache and dark eyebrows. His complexion harmonizes with the color of these appendages and seems to have suffered from long exposure to the heat of the sun. There was nothing specially forbidding about his countenance, and his voice, which was rather musical and soft, in spite of his reluctance to engage in any lengthy conversation, prepossessed one in his favor. His connection with the killing will, no doubt, be thoroughly investigated this morning.

Alex Carr and his companion, B. E. Bailey, made the most of a gloomy Sunday in jail yesterday.

Almost in front of their cell door the prisoners gathered for the regular Sunday afternoon service, and for the first time the two men got an insight into the religlous life of the jail.

Carr did not have a very dull time of it. He had numerous visitors during the day. Quite a number of his friends called to see him in the afternoon. Among them were three of his brothers and his father.

Carr and Bailey jointly occupy cell No. 3, which is known as "Little Spot." The cell is one of the safest in the prison and an escape from it would be wellnigh impossi-

Carr was seen yesterday afternoon in this cage by a Constitution reporter. It was with considerable difficulty that he was induced to talk at all, and then he refused to discuss his case. He said his attorneys had told him to say nothing and that he was going to follow their instructions.

In response to a question he said that he had read none of the newspaper accounts of the tragedy, and as he understood that they were damaging to his side of the case he did not wish to read them.

"I will say for publication," said Carr, "that the published report that my father had nine sons and all but two of them were dead, is erroneous. My father had nine sons and only one of them is dead." The only reference Carr made to his case was: "I am not at all uneasy. I will come

Carr said he was twenty-five years old and had lived in Atlanta twelve years, and that he was a machinist by trade. He is unmarried and has been employed during the greater part of the last six months as superintendent of the Paulding county copper mines, of which Colonel John A. Wim-pey, of this city, is the president and mana-

Carr appeared to be very gloomy and despondent during the day. He is reported by one of his fellow prisoners to have said in the morning: "If I had it to go over again I would rather receive three bullets in my body than to do what I did." Carr's meals are being sent to him from a neighboring restaurant. He says that he is being well treated by the jailers and that he has no complaint to make.

It was said at the jail yesterday afternoon that Bailey had a visitor during the day who will prove an important witness in the case. This witness was reported to have said that he saw Bailey only a few minutes before the shooting and that he did minutes before the shooting and that he did not urge Carr to kill Captain King. This caller said that a few weeks ago he had Bailey arrested by the city police, but af-terwards relenting, he asked Judge Calhoun to let Bailey off. The fact that he had Bailey arrested caused some coldness be-tween them, which still existed when he met Bailey on Broad street Friday afternoon just before the shooting occurred.

met Bailey on Broad street Friday afternoon just before the shooting occurred.

While talking with Bailey, Carr came along and told them to drop their little affair and said "Come along, Bailey, I am going to see King." Bailey went off with Carr and in a few minutes the shooting occurred. The man says that Bailey did not urge Carr to escape, but had only tried to keep the crowd off. Bailey was asked about this caller, but would say nothing.

Bailey is forty-seven years old and has lived in Atlanta fifteen years. He came here from Augusta. He knew Carr there. Bailey's wife and daughter called on him yesterday afternoon and spent some time for Washington.

FIVE TRAINS CARRY THE CROWD

It took five big trains to carry away to Washington the army of Knights of Pythias that assembled at the union depot at noon vesterday.

They came from nearly every southern state, on special trains and special cars, and there, among them, making a brave and striking show, were thirty of Atlanta's own loyal knights, representing Gate City division No. 5. Just at the hour of noon it seemed as if every grown up man in Atlanta had rigged himself out in the pretty suits that the uniform rank wear, and assembled at the union depot. The depot was racked with the jolly Washington-bound excursionists, and on every hand were vistibuled sleepers ready for them. Just at noon it rained-not an ordinary sprinkle, but a fearful downpour. Luckily Atlanta's knights, with their grips and rundles, had already reached the depot, and their handsome uniforms were saved from the ill effects of the falling weather. Atlanta's knights made a fine spectacle in their splendid uniforms, immaculately brushed. Every single nan seemed ready to go on dress parade, and as Captain Tip Harrison informally took command of the the First regiment of Georgia Knights of Pythias, as he had been designated to do, he felt a glow of pride at the fine appearance that his men presented.

The West Point company, under command of Captain J. J. Smith, showed up excellently. They had a special car, along which was strung a handsome bonner telling who the occupants of the car were what they were up to, where they were going and where they came from.

A handsome car bore on its side in glaring big letters: "Atlanta U. R .- K. P. Gate City Division No. 5."

Two divisions of knights were on hand from Birmingham. They were Birminghad division No. 2, under command of Captain Linnehan, and Jefferson Valley division No. 7, under command of Captain Frank Moss. Anniston was represented by Lieutenant Runn and three knights. Companies from New Orleans, Texas and Alabama were present and left on the special trains.

The union depot was literally honey combed with sleepers. The railroad tracks inside the depot were all occupied with trains, and the tracks at each end of the depot had long lines of sleepers ready for the crowd of knights.

It soon become apparent that it would not be practicable for the Southern's vestibuled and the Atlanta special, of the Seaboard Air-Line, to leave at the sound of noon, as is their schedule. The telegraph operator noised it about that the two trains coming in on the Atlanta and West Point road were three hours off schedule. The bound trains was set for 1 o'clock, the extras to pull out at 3 o'clock.

advantage of this, Captain Harrison called out in stentorian tones to all the knights present to follow him. In quick n.ilitary fashion the knights lined up between the trains, and at the word of command, marched out of the depot.

It was a novel sight to see a fall regiment of uniformed knights marching through the street at the hour of noon on lay, and the few people who were no waterbound and who happened to be on the streets, gazed at the imposing line wonderingly.

The knights were led to the Knights of Pythias' hall, where they were given a royal but informal entertainment by the Atlanta knights. There was a lanch and a splendid time generally. The knights mixed together and all became well acquainted and perfect friends. It was a happy, informal occasion, and was a delightful prelude to the big trip on which they were starting.

They got into the depot in time for the regular trains which left at 1 o'c.cck. The first train carried only those who had been fortunate enough to secure sleeping car berths. Those without berth's had to wait for the specials. Atlanta's kn.ghts fortunately managed to get on the ilrst section. They were accompanied by many of their friends and a number of knights not in uniform. The trains moved out at a fine pace, and the knights were in the very best of humor. The specials went at

Pythians from All Over the South Leave | The Public Schools of the City Open Next Monday.

MEETING OF THE NORMAL SCHOOL TODAY

The Session Begins This Morning at 8:30 O'Clock, and Will Continue Throughout the Week.

In just a week from today the public schools of Atlanta will open their doors for the fall term, and the children of the city, after three months of liberty, will return to the quiet, monotonous routine of study and recitation.

The beginning of each term adds a new regiment to the army of pupils that are daily summoned together at the tap of the bell. This year, however, the number of recruits will be exceedinly great, and if the present indications hold good, there will not be enough seats in the schools to accommodate the increased demand.

A very great difficulty with which the super intendent has had to contend in is-suing tickets to applicants has been the disposition to avoid the requirement of the law in regard to a successful vaccina-

The law distinctly says that no ticket of admission shall be issued to any ap-plicant who has not been successfully vaccinated. This is a wise precaution which has been adopted by the board in order to prevent the development and spread of fever. If a single pupil was admitted who falled to comply with this exaction of the board it might result in a defeat of the entire purpose of the law and be the same as if a single child had not been vaccinated. single child had not been vaccinated.

A number of physicians have merely certified that applicants were being vac-cinated without waiting to ascertain whether or not the operation was successful. A certificate of this kind is void and is not worth the paper on which it is written.

Parents who desire to enter their children in the public schools this week must be careful to observe this requirement of

These daily sessions of the institute will continue throughout the present week and will form the customary prelude to the opening of the schools.

LOOKING FOR HIS WIFE. A Young Man Calls on The Constitu tion with a Story. A young man with a blonde mustache and a bronze face called at The Constitution office to say a word about his missing wife He appeared to be a respectable young man of twenty-six, or thereabouts, and had the manners of an industrious fellow.

He fumbled his hat nervously as he stated that he had come up to put it in the paper that his wife had left him and gone he knew not where. He seemed to feel very sensitive on the subject of his visit and was evidently not a little disturbed at being deserted by a wife he loved.

"I don't want to say a word against her," he said. "We always got along well together, and there were no troubles except the ordinary troubles that married folks have. I don't think she was unhappy. "I am a wholesale butcher, and frequently go out of the city and am gone for quite a while, buying up cattle by droves. My home is in north Atlanta, at the corner of Cleveland and Center streets. My name is William R. Seals. I am pretty well known in the city. I have been married four years from the 1st of last June. My wife was the daughter of Mr. J. W. Arberry, who lives at the corner of Fourth and Linden streets.

"I went out of town over two weeks ago and left my wife at home. Everything was all right. When I came back she wasn't at home and I could not find her anywhere. I thought at once that her father had persuaded her to go off. I sent my little brother over to his house to see if she was there. She was not there and Mr. Arberry sent word that she had gone to Texas.
"Now, that's all I know. She may be in Texas and she may be in Atlanta. I can't find her. I would like to know where she is. I haven't got a single word to say against her, for she was a good enough wife. I just think that my father-in-law got her to leave me. I want a word put in the paper about it."

Mr. Seals was clearly sincere and showed palpably enough that he wanted his wife back. He said that he thought Mr. Arberry he had not a word to say against Mr. Arberry.

The many friends of Mrs. A. E. Grady will be glad to know that she is in the best of health and is very much pleased with her new home in the far west. Though absent from the scenes and associations of nearly sixty years, she has found much to interest her among the wild and rugged surroundings of her western home. A letter received from her a few days ago gave an interesting account of the country and narrated a number of thrilling experiences through which she had passed. The pe-culiar habits of the people, as well as the flerce pictorial scenery of the wild western mountains, differ widely from the quiet social life to which Mrs. Trady has been accustomed among the hills of north Georgia, but her facility for making friends is such and she adapts herself with such eas such and she adapts nerselt with such ease to her new surroundings that she has had but little difficulty in winning her way into the hearts of her new neighbors. Still her thoughts are repeatedly with those she left behind her in Georgia and no scenery is sweeter to her soul than the old red hills over which her loved ones are scattered. Railroad Certificates.

Some time ago the Brunswick and Albany railroad issued among its hands a lot of railroad certificates similar to greenbacks. Like greenbacks, they were of different denominations and were put out during the panic of last year.

Saturday Officer Tyson arrested a negre boy on Decatur street who had just passed one of the bills on an old darky. He was taken to the station house and searched. In his pockets were found several large rolls of the stuff.

He said that it was given to him by a negro who had worked on the road.

As Intelligent Chinaman Writes Concerning the Corean War.

ATLANTA ORIENTALS UNPATRIOTIC

Only One Chinaman Who Has Any Idea of What Is Going on in Their Native Country-Some Original Ideas.

The Constitution is able to present this morning the exhaustive views of an intelligent Chinaman on the attitude of the American orientals toward the China-

To one not familiar with the lingo of the Chinese the opinions given are very brief. They cover the ground fully, however, and if translated would fill several columns. These brilliant ideas emanated from the queue-covered pate of Sam Sing. who is at the head of one faction of the Atlanta colony.

It is a fact of peculiar significance that Sam is the only representative of his race in the city who has any knowledge of the relation of the warring nations or their position with regard to Corea, the cock-

What he knows concerning the war is original. Sam was busily at work with his iron yesterday. He was dressed in his blouse waist and full trousers. Before him lay piles of unstarched collars ready for his immaculate polish and a shining shirt front was stretched out before him, over which he was running a hot smoothing iron with singular precision. Sam is shrewd-very shrewd. He is wonderfully suspicious and wants to know what lies at the bottom of every look you give him. Before he answers a question he must know what prompted it, and he dodges a direct reply invariably. Compared with Sam Sing's, feminine curiosity is not in it. Pull a watch out in his presence and he must see on the inside of it, straining his almond eyes at the movement of the smallest wheels and demanding an explanation of

Sam placed his iron to one side when asked about the war and assumed an air of indifference "No makee diffence," he said: "Mellican Chinaman allee samee washee. Makee monee. No go war. Empler China say 'come fight muchee.' Me no go 'tall. Stay in 'Lanta. Workee. Washee. No, O me no go war,"

Sam was asked to give what he thought mangled, dislocated way how Corea had been the fighting ground of China and Ja-pan for centuries. It is a small place and the people live like dogs. Japan used to receive taxes from the people—Sam called it "contribute"—and China also asked for it "contribute"—and China also asked for taxes. There are jarring factions inside Corea. Some sympathize with China—others with Japan. Japan was made a separate empire and all the countries recognized it as such, China did not like it. She still oppressed the people and sent her soldiers over. Japan was jealous and told China to cease her invasions there. China kept on and raised the tax. Japan sent word to here to stop or she would make her. China got mad and the soldiers fought the Japs. War was declared and the fighting began.

to stop or she would make her. China got mad and the soldiers fought the Japs. War was declared and the fighting began.

Sam jabbered out all these facts about the difficulty in a jargon hard to interpret. He said that he got his information from a paper which was sent to him from San Francisco by a friend over there.

He is confident that China will be victorious, but thinks it will be a hard fight, as Japan is better equipped in the navy. According to him, the people of China care nothing as to the outcome of the war and are totally indifferent to the course it takes. Those who fight are paid well and go at it mainly from a mercenary motive. There are no volunteers in the army. There are many districts in China which would be glad to see the Japs win.

Sam was asked to write out his opinion in regard to the relation of the two nations and the attitude of the Chinese in Atlanta towards their native country. He wrote all he knew in a few moments on the back of a laundry ticket.

It is no exaggeration to say that Sam Sing is the only Chinaman in Atlanta who has any idea of the affairs between the warring nations and he shows no sympathy for his fatherland.

There are two factions of Chinamen in Atlanta canh with a different head Sam is

TREATING THE WRONG DISEASE.

Many times men and women call on their ramily physicians, suffering, as they magine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or timey disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present, alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he prescribes his pills and potions, assuming them to be such, when, in reality, they are all ohly symptoms caused by some delicate or private disorder. The physician, ignorant of the cause c suffering, encourage his practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and susceptent compilations. A proper treatment given and directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, threby dispelling all those distressing symptoms and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery.

DR. HATHAWAY & CO., who make a true and genuius specialty of delicate and private diseases peculiar to men and women explain their remarkable success to this fact. They study each case thoroughly and direct their treatment to the cause, have failed. They are the acknowledged eaders in their specialty.

ALMOST GIVEN AWAY

This serviceable bookcase will be supplied to Subscribers of the Encyclopædia Britannica at the very low price of $1.50.

This Case Is of Solid Oak

About 29 inches high, 29 inches wide and 9 inches deep, and though plain and simple in construction, yet the fact that they come from the factory of THE BEUTELL MANUFACTURING COMPANY is a sufficient guarantee that they are well made and finished. It is designed expressly to hold the 28 Royal Octavo Volumes of our new edition of the Encyclopædia Britannica.

Many of our subscribers have their bookcases filled and are at a loss to know where to place this magnificent library. The Encyclopædia Britannica bookcase solves the problem and it is just what you want.

Within This Small Compass

You have so complete a library that it covers every branch of knowledge known to man A vast storehouse of information, the learning of the world concentrated; a library so complete that Noah Porter, the president of Yale College, has said he will defy any one to buy 3,000 volumes that will give him as good a working library.

The unparalleled offer of THE CONSTITUTION to supply the Encyclopædia Britannica a TEN CENTS A DAY is meeting with the success that an educational enterprise of such magnitude and importance deserves.

A Perfect Avalanche

Of orders has been received, the advance guard of the army that is to follow before the offer is withdrawn.

THE CONSTITUTION, ever mindful of the interests of its readers, has made arrangements to supply this bookcase as a convenient receptacle for these valuable books. The cases will not be sold at a profit, being offered only as an accommodation to those who have no other convenient case in which to place this new library. To such it will be furnished at the nominal price of $1.50, this being just what these cases cost in lots of 100.

Those who have already purchased sets, as well as those who shall hereafter order them, are welcome to avail themselves of this offer, if they find the case a convenience; but it will not be furnished at this price for any other purpose.

or the words written. To get the best import of the text, we need to know the mind of St. John and the religious culture of the church at Smyrna.

"St. John would be called a Christian mystic if he were alive now. He possessed that feculiar order of mind which clothes facts and principles of Christianity in its own magic and etherialized light. It is the mind of a poet, an artist, of a musician. Many of the facts connected with Patmos were glorified by St. John until they gave beauty and power of expression in describing the city of God. This mental characteristic reveals itself in all that St. John did and said. Smyrna was a seaport of Asia Minor, populous, waithy and cultivated in Greek arts, manners and customs. Among other distinctions it claimed to be the birthplace of Homer, and built a magnificent temple in honor of his name. Here and there are indications that the people were reined, thoughtful and interested in religious matters. They were familiar with the usages and manners of Greece, and understood full well the meaning of crown as used by St. John. To them it conveyed a definite idea. It meant victory as the result of a religious life. "Among the Romans a crown was given for courage and the results of courage and power. Among the Greeks, a crown was bestowed, not for courage, but for victory. It was not confined to warfare alone, but to victory in any sphere. The successful solder was entitled to his crown. The great orator might win a crown. The great order of things? In this way, by emphasizing the fact that life is a conflict and a victory won here is entitled to recognit on and the victor to reward. Youth is hopeful, cheerful, enthusiastic and careless. Manhood is full of toli, thought and work. It is the age of reason, of study, and of realization. Old age is sweetened, elevated and inspired by the natural order of events. Youth rushes into the confilet, manhood stops and thinks; old age

First Christian Church.

A number of strangers worshiped at this church yestedray morning and entered heartily into all the services. The introductory services were led by Rev. F. J. London, of DeLand, Fla., who is in the city, having his eyes treated by Dr. Cal-

The subject of the morning discussion by Dr. Williamson was "How May We Best Glorify God?" In substance the speaker

"Every work ought to glorify its creator If it does not 'Ichabod' is its rightful epitaph. Morse is magnified in every click of the telegrapher's key, Edison in every electric light; Da Vinci lives in his 'Last supper' Phidias in his majestic statues; Watt is glorified in every breath of the mighty engine; Eiffel will live in his lofty tower, and American genius is magnified as Ferris revolves in our admiration and thought with every revolution of his mighty wheel. The earth is vocal with the praises of its Maker. Niagara thunders it; Talluiah echoes it; the sea, with is 'many voices' murmurs it, and the gentle zephyrs whisper it. It is manifest in the breath of the violet: is sung from the throat of every robin; is seen in 'evening's sunset glow,' and comes to us leading in radiance over the eastern with the breath of every new morn-Truly has the poet bard, who swept the chords of his harmonious lyre with a master's hand, echoed our sentiment when he writes, 'The heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament showeth His andiwork.' Man's highest mission on earth is to glorify God. How can we best do this? Jesus has answered this question for us when He said: 'Herein is My Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be My disciples.'

"Our business is to bear fruit. This we can do if we abide in the vine. Christ's life must be in us. Leaves of promise are not enough. The withered fig tree, on the page enough. The withered fig tree, on the page of sacred history, forever stands a blasted monument to hypocrisy. Christ expects fruit. He demands it. In the exhortation, 'Remember Lot's wife,' Christ has memorialized disobedience and the piliar of salt or Shinar's plains stood for years a monument of warning to those who 'looked back' when their faces should have been set like flint towards the mountain of deliverance.

set like flint towards the mountain of deliverance.

"Christ's mission was to save men. He came to seek and save them. He glorified His Father by the fidelity with which He discharged His duty. If any man have not the spirit of Christ he is none of His. The spirit of Christ he is none of His. The spirit of christ he is none of His. The spirit of christ he manifested by the fruits of the spirit of our lives. These are love, joy, peace, long sufferng, patience, gentleness, meekness, faith. Against su h there is no law. Christianity and selfshness are diametrically opposed. The Jewish rabble and the rough soldiery wagged their heads and spat upon the Christ, reviling Him and saying: 'He saved others, Himself He cannot save.' Little did they know that He saved others by not saying Himself from the cross. He gave His life that He might save His enemies.

"I have seen the tree clothed with the savely others by not saying Himself from the cross. He gave His life that He might save His enemies.

"I have seen the tree clothed with the rich foliage of promise. It bore, however, nothing but leaves. It was a hollow mockery to the hungry traveler. I have seen the withered and barren tree through whose le-fless branches the winds whistled with unpitying force; it was only fit for the fire. I have seen the fruitful tree, bowed to the very earth with its golden harvest. Thank God we have such men and women in our church toddy. They are loaded down with their love for Christ and for His work. They are glorifying God. They are the fruit bearers in His vineyard. Sinner, don't you want to become such for Christ."

At the conclusion three came forward, two to take membership, and one to make the "good confession."

FELL FROM A HOUSETOP.

Mr. Thomas Peters, Jr., Badly Bruised by an Accidental Fall. Mr. Thomas Peters, Jr., will probably be kept indoors for several days as the result of an accident which occurred to him on

Mr. Peters was on the roof of his house Mr. Peters was on the roof of his house superintending some work to which he desired to give his personal supervision. He was looking after this closely when he attempted to step from one place to another. In some way his foot slipped, and before he regained his balance, Mr. Peters was precipitated to the ground. His leg was badly bruised, and though no bones were broken, he will be kept to the house for quite a while. While his injuries are luckly not at all serious, they are very painful.

How Jolly!

Eh! Who said that? The answer is as prompt as the question from the dear chapple who has checkmated the rheumatism with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, unequaled as well for dyspepsia, liver complaint, inactivity of the bowels or kidneys, nervousness, lack of vitality, appetite or sleep. Use the great tonic and you will be ultimately happy if now afflicted.

SUNDAY'S SERMONS. DRANK TURPENTINE.

This Method of Suicide.

And It Is by No Means Certain That He Will Recover-Mrs. Hicken Nursing Him to Health Again.

Palmer Pease, a negro preacher who is now confined in Fulton county jail on a charge of forgery, made a desperate and almost successful attempt at suicide last

Pease has been in jail for some time past and it is claimed that he forged a dray oheck of Swift & Allen and tried to get the check cashed by Nick Holmes, the Broad street shoemaker.

On last Tuesday Pease complained of a pain in his back and asked for some turpentine with which to rub it. He was given the turpentine and no further attention was given him until next morning when the negro was found to be in the most intense

He told the jailer that he had swallowed a plat of turpentine, and that he had ex-pected to kill himself. The county physician was summoned hastily and applied his skill to save the man. The negro, since that time, has been suffering tortures. It has been and is still very doubtful whether or not he will recover.

Pease, as soon as it was found that he was ick, was removed from his cell to one of the rooms on the first floor of the jall. He was seen yesterday by a Constitution reporter and freely told the story of his at-tempt to end his existence. He said: "Well, it was this way, boss. I was arrested on the 10th day of July and ever since that time I have been thinking what a hard time I had to get along in this world. You see one of my brothers is in prison for life. He is Gus Pease, who killed a man at Nickajack. My other brother, Jim Pease was killed by Bill Gober and Jim Pease, was killed by Bill Gober, and my family has had a very hard time of it-I have been arrested a lot of times. It seems as if I can't get out of jail one time before I am arrested again. I just got to thinking over all these things and concluded that I would leave Fulton county by killing myself.

"Last Tuesday I told the boys I had a bad pain in the back and asked them to have the jailer get me some turpentine. They got me some, and pretty soon—after I had got me some, and pretty soon—after I had put it into a tin cup—I asked them to get me some more of it. I did this four times and by that time I had the cup, which holds a pint full. Then I drank it. It didn't hurt me until soon next morning, but it has been nearly killing me ever since."

The negro, as he lay upon his cut, was a pitiful looking sight. His head and body are covered with sores and are bandaged are covered with sores and are bandaged up. His feet are swollen to nearly twice their natural size, and his sufferings are intense. He writhes and groans, and it seems to be an impossibility to make him comfortable.

The female prioners of the jail wait on the negro and do everything in their power to make him comfortable. Mrs. Hicken, who is in the prison, charged with cheating and swindling, has a room almost di-rectly across the hall from the one in which the negro lies, and she has been very attentive to his wants. She has done much to alleviate his sufferings, and whatever else she may be she surely is a tender-hearted woman. Pease said that she had been as kind to him as could be. He also spoke of the kindness done him by other white fe-male prisoners.

It is the opinion of all who see the negro that he should be removed to the hosiptal, where he could receive proper care and at-

It is to lose money, but there is no way to help it when the government comes in and upsets nearly everything with a new Tariff. Manufacturers accept the situation as cheerfully as they can and as rapidly as possible are sinking all Clothing to the price-level made by the approaching law. Doing the radical thing establishes at once safe ground under our customers' feet. To pare prices, a little here and there and crowd on our customers, with least loss to ourselves, the large stock sure to be on hand with a business as great as this, is contrary to our sense of duty to our most excellent and valued
